

FRANÇOIS CHAUMETTE, France

François Chaumette (M'98-SM'10-F'13) was graduated from Ecole Nationale Supérieure de Mécanique, Nantes, France, in 1987. He received the Ph.D. degree in Computer Science from the University of Rennes, France, in 1990. Since 1990, he has been with Inria in Rennes where he is now senior research scientist (“Directeur de Recherches”) and head of the Lagadic group (<http://www.irisa.fr/lagadic>). He published more than 200 papers in international journals and conferences in robotics, computer vision, and automatic control.

His research interests include robotics and computer vision, especially visual servoing and active perception.

Dr. Chaumette is IEEE Fellow. He received the AFCET/CNRS Prize for the best French thesis in automatic control in 1991. He also received the 2002 King-Sun Fu Memorial Best IEEE Transactions on Robotics and Automation Paper Award. He is in the Editorial Board of the Int. Journal of Robotics Research.
